WILLIAMSPORT'S WOE.

The Property Loss Will be as Great as in 1889.

BUILDINGS IN DANGER OF FALLING

Scenes of Families of Poor People Have Lost All They Possessed, and Measures of Relief Will be Pushed Rapidly—Business Rapidly Resuming.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 23.—As the waters recede the horrors wrought by the flood is becoming more and more apparent, and careful investigation proves that the loss to property will be almost as great as in 1889. Dozens of families among the poorer people of the city have lost all they had in the world, and almost everyone has lost something. In fact, so widespread is the calamity it is impossible to partially assist. The greatest havoc was wrought at North, Fry, three miles out of this city where the Reading depot was completely wrecked and every house in the place was flooded, some to the first under stories.

In the city proper the foundations of many of the smaller buildings in the city are found to have been undermined and weakened as to be unsafe. In the case of the First Street M. E. church the foundation of the steeple has been imperiled so that the structure may fall at any time. These facts are causing great uneasiness, as many of the families from Lycoming county, after the previous floods. It is again reported that several persons are missing, who it is feared have been drowned, but the only specific case thus far is that of William Long, who has not been seen since Sunday morning.

The losses in the farming districts have been very great and reports from all the surrounding towns bring in one of the loss of thousands of dollars worth of live and lumber swept away in the roaring torrent.

The river, which has fallen rapidly is now about stationary, and is running rapidly. The business portion of the city is out of water but that part which lies north of the Reading railroad station and some portions of the east and west ends are still partly submerged. Active preparations are in progress to resume business, hand engines and all manner of pumps being pressed into service to clear the cellars and lower floors of water.

The most exciting scenes of the flood were during Monday night. Hundreds of boats manned by the fishermen moved swiftly through the streets stopping at every turn in response to appeals for help to take from second story windows the women and children whose lives were in great danger. The boats were not plenty enough for many hundreds found their way out by jumping on floating sidewalks. Others waded with the water up to their necks, carrying the women and children from the dangerous localities, and acts of heroic devotion to suffering humanity were performed everywhere.

The railroad officials have been equally active and facilities for travel are again on their normal condition on the Philadelphia and Erie. The Northern Central between this city and Harrisburg is in bad shape, and the Fall Brook and Beech Creek roads are in such condition that traffic cannot be resumed for several days. The Reading will be ready by about Wednesday next. Superintendent Watson, of the Philadelphia and Erie will probably handle Reading trains between Muncy until the bridges are rebuilt.

Mayor Lentz has called a meeting for this afternoon at which steps will be taken to provide for those who are in immediate need. The electric lights are still out, and the city is in darkness, but as the river recedes these and all present discomforts are forgotten in the general feeling of thankfulness that it is no worse.

The Schuylkill Receding.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—The worst of the flood along the Schuylkill river in this city is over. The water has been falling slowly all day and yesterday and last night, and although much property is still submerged the prospects are more encouraging. In some dead cases, however, the condition of the river is still dangerous. One of these is the outlying hamlet of Clearview, composed of about 200 families and built on the banks of the Schuylkill river near the mouths of Darby and Cobbs creeks. These two streams have arisen with alarming rapidity, and the people have been driven by the rising water into the second and third stories of their houses. The three masted schooner Flint, of Bangor, Me., broke from its moorings on the lower Schuylkill and drifted against the piers of Grays Ferry bridge, a low wooden structure down town. The force of the current carried the vessel to careen over, and she filled rapidly and sank.

Railroad Traffic Resuming.

PITTSBURG, May 23.—It is estimated that the damage on the Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania railroad by the flood will reach $75,000. Nearly 1,000 men are at work repairing the tracks between Conemaugh and Saltsburg, and it is expected that the road will be opened through before night. The Pittsburg and Western road resumed the running of trains over their own tracks today, and all the other roads are running trains as usual. Monday night John Whitmore, who was employed on pumping looking hangers, fell into the river and was drowned.

Business Resuming at Lockport.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., May 23.—After having been almost under water from Sunday night until yesterday morning, Lock Haven is recovering her usual serenity. The principal business houses, which have been flooded to the depth of three feet or more, have resumed business, and the citizens are moving back into their homes.

Sunbury Out of the Depths.

SUNBURY, Pa., May 23.—The north and west branches of the Susquehanna are falling at the rate of three inches an hour. Passenger trains are running again, and the delegates to the state convention, who had been imprisoned here by the flood have gone on their destination.

Iron Works Resuming.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 23.—The damage done by the flood in this vicinity will amount to thousands of dollars. All danger is past, however, and the waters are receding rapidly. The Lehigh iron works resumed work this morning.

The Storm Damage at Warren.

WARREN, Pa., May 23.—The high water has come and gone down. The total loss in this city is now estimated at $15,000.

The Pennsylvania Republicans.

HARRISBURG, May 23.—It becomes more and more certain that the elected nominations for the Republican state ticket will be carried out, and that the ticket will be headed by Hastings and Lyon for governor and lieutenant governor, "Jack" Robinson is making his fight for the latter office, but Lyon has the call of the votes, and the congressman's race is hopeless. Huff will be the nominee for auditor general, and Greer and Latta will carry off the nominations for congressmen-at-large. General Hastings now will be presented to the convention by Congressman Beaver, and Charles Emory Smith will second the nomination. The most important plank in the platform will be that touching the silver question. It will not recommend the free coinage of silver at a ratio which will prevent the parity of those metals.

Another Point Boiler Explosion.

PENSACOLA, Fla., May 23.—The boiler of the Harrison mill, a few miles east of Pensacola, exploded with terrific force, and was blown through the roof and deposited some 200 yards away. The mill is almost a complete wreck. The fireman, J. H. Davis, was instantly killed and horribly mangled. John Cody, one of the mill hands, received probably fatal wounds. Henry Scott's collarbone was broken and he was badly scalded and cut about the head. Several others of the mill hands received painful wounds.

Arms for the Coke Regions.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 23.—The Marlin Arms company, of this city, yesterday shipped 1,000 guns to the coke regions in Pennsylvania. It is understood that they are to be used to protect the workmen who are to take the places of the strikers. This is the fourth order of the kind the Marlin company has filled within a week.

Iowa Pool Law Constitutional.

DES MOINES, May 23.—Judge Merwin has rendered a decision Judge Martin concurring, upholding the constitutionality of the Iowa pool law thus reversing the decision of a lower court.

New York's Rapid Transit Bill Signed.

ALBANY, May 23.—The governor has signed the rapid transit bill, filing a memorandum of about 7,000 words. It analyzes the provisions of the bill carefully and takes up the constitutional objection which has been made against the bill, and decides that in view of recent decisions of the courts they are not sufficient to warrant him withholding his signature from the bill.

A Sea Serpent Mystery Cleared Up.

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., May 23.—The sea serpent which has been reported for years as having been seen near the shores of Long Island sound is thought to be dead. He was 35 rods long, over feet long and weighed at least 500 pounds. The body was washed ashore upon Manursing Island, off Rye, last evening by the storm.

An Old Settler Murdered.

EVANSTON, Wyo., May 23.—James Waddup, an old settler, was shot and killed on Bear River, Southern Uinta county, by William Blodgett in a dispute over water rights. His son, Thomas Waddup, was also shot, but not fatally. Blodgett escaped.

Domestic Tragedy at Shamokin.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 23.—Vincent Roloose shot and instantly killed his wife during a family quarrel yesterday. Roloose was arrested and locked up. The couple had been married three years.

IMPEACH JUDGE JENKINS.

Congressman Bailey, of Texas, May Introduce the Proposition.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The house committee on the judiciary yesterday ordered the report of the latter sub-committee which investigated the matter of the injunction by Judge Jenkins, of the circuit court of the eastern district of Wisconsin, against the employees of the Northern Pacific railway. A resolution and two bills will be reported to the house. The resolution will set forth that the house disapproves of the action of Judge Jenkins and holds that he exceeded his powers in issuing the famous writ restraining striking. The bills to be reported will be drawn to carry into effect the sub-committee's recommendations regarding compulsory labor.

Congressman Morris Bailey, of Texas, a member of the judiciary committee, is of the opinion that that part of the Debs injunction does not command sufficiently effective action. He thinks that Judge Jenkins should be impeached, and although he supported in the section of the committee to adopt the report, he reserved the right to propose such amendments of the house as he should consider that they were the only effective form of procedure in the case.

Mr. Bailey says that he will take no steps looking to the impeachment of the judge unless he feels assured of reasonable sentiment on the part of the house in favor of such a course. He believes that many members would support a proposition for impeachment. Mr. Bailey said that while he realized fully that the matter of impeachment was a most delicate one, and that the step was only to be taken in exceptional circumstances, he thought that in a case like that of Judge Jenkins the fairest method of relief should be taken to emphasize the extreme nature of the offense.

North Carolina's Confederate Dead.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 23.—All morning trains yesterday were packed with people to attend the laying of the corner stone of the monument to be erected in honor of the unknown Confederate dead of the state of North Carolina. The procession, which was seven blocks long, formed on Fayetteville street and marched thence to the capitol, where the ceremonies of laying the corner stone were held. The choir, composed of a hundred voices, rendered the "Old North State," after which Governor Carr introduced the speaker of the day, Mr. Walter Grimes. Mr. Grimes spoke in an impressive manner of the Confederate dead of North Carolina and was heartily cheered. Then Rev. Mr. Weston, of Lenoir, led in prayer. He was followed by Judge Bennett and Thomas S. Mason, who delivered short addresses.

A Celebrated Scandal Ended.

ATHENS, Ills., May 23.—The celebrated scandal suit of Father Leydon, pastor of St. Mary's church here, charged with the ruin of Miss Sierra Cummings, one of the prettiest and wealthiest girls in Athens, and a member of his parish, came to a sudden end yesterday. The prosecution had introduced evidence on Monday that was damaging to the defendant, and on advice of his attorneys the injured girl's mother, giving bond for his appearance in the circuit court. It is thought that he will settle the case without further trial.

Crushed to Death in a Sewer.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 23.—While a gang of workmen were making a connection of a branch sewer with a trunk sewer in West Genesee street part of the bank gave way burying three men. When taken from the ditch Michael Costello was found to have been killed instantly, his back, skull, legs and arms being broken. John Kelly, laborer, was badly crushed, but is still alive. The third man was but slightly injured.

The Columbia Makes a New Record.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—The cruiser Columbia returned from her government trial yesterday afternoon. The results of the trial were satisfactory, even far beyond expectation. The trial was not for speed, but to test her seaworthiness. She was speeded, however, and she made the wonderful record of twenty-four knots an hour, and under natural draft at that.

THE INVADING ARMIES.

Fitzgerald's Boston Contingent at the National Capital.

POLICE WILL NOT MOLEST THEM.

The Appearance of the Men Commended and They Are Assured by Police Officials That They Will be Free from Persecution—Some of the Other Armies.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Michael Fitzgerald, with his band of forty-three industrial delegates, to be styled them, arrived in this city last evening, and the organization has taken quarters in the small chapel annex to the Mount Zion Methodist church, a block of wooden fire engines to the northwest section of the city. The chapel is just about large enough to accommodate the industrials, and is equipped with wooden benches, which the men used for bunks last night. The delegates are by far the most intelligent in appearance of any of the armies of the unemployed that have entered the city.

Fitzgerald's followers do not expect to stay here more than three or four days. They have a petition to present to congress but have as yet made no plans concerning the manner of presenting it. The petition is strongly socialistic in its nature, and goes much further than the Coxey plan. Fitzgerald says his men are in sympathy with Coxey, but that they are not in any way connected with him or his army.

Shortly after quarters were taken up by the delegates in the chapel the police lieutenant of the precinct entered and made a little speech to the men. He said that law abiding people would not be molested here by the police. He received assurance from Fitzgerald that there was to be no breaking of the peace, and that no professional crooks were among the delegates. He does not anticipate any trouble from the men.

Morrison I. Swift, the commonwealth leader of the Boston contingent of the Coxey Commonweal, is in the city. He was at the interior department yesterday, and called on Commissioner Harris and a number of other acquaintances in the bureau of education.

Kelly's Men at Quincy.

QUINCY, Ills., May 23.—Kelly's army has arrived here. The fishboats were lashed together, forming a huge raft, which was towed down from Keokuk by the steamer Mills. The army went into camp on Goose Island, on the Missouri side of the Mississippi, where ample provisions have been stored for them by the citizens of Quincy. The army came through a chilly rain, and the men arrived wet and hungry. The army left today for Hannibal.

The Chicago Industrials.

VAN WERT, O., May 23.—Randall's contingent of the Commonweal army arrived here last night. Of the 500 men who left Chicago only 60 are in the band today. Randall says that he will not be deterred by Coxey's imprisonment in Washington. He is determined to go right along but when asked what he proposes to do when he gets to Washington he will not say.

Denver Contributes Liberally.

DENVER, May 23.—Many bands of industrials are here, when owing to the establishment of headquarters by the Coxey bona fides several hundred more are reported here and General Hardie says that no opposition will be offered for the next few days as the Missouri river [illegible] are contributing pretty liberally.

A Regiment Coming from Utah.

OGDEN, Utah, May 23.—A band of many industrials left here yesterday for Salt Lake. Advices were received Monday night over the same route that 1,000 men are to be expected will reach Ogden from the west early the next day, and will continue to arrive [illegible].

Brooks Arms Coming.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Brooks all the officers of the [illegible] army entered camp this morning. The commissary of labor organizations [illegible] other arms from Kansas, the industrials out. The army is growing and now numbers 300.

Ignorant Police Not Wanted.

COLUMBUS, O., May 23.—Mr. Mosher and thirty-six men had left for Washington on foot. He said the treatment he received here in general was not pleasant.

West Virginia Miners Still Out.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 23.—The refusal of two-fifths of the operators to advance the price of mining from two to two and a half cents means a prolongation of the strike. Three hundred miners met at Pinckney and decided to remain out until the scale was raised.

His Men Will Not Walk.

SENECA, Kan., May 23.—General Bennett's division of the Commonweal army has arrived here but was not allowed to enter the city. Bennett said he would not let his men walk as they had not walked over sixty miles in their entire trip from Denver.

Left Toledo on Foot.

TOLEDO, O., May 23.—A hundred Coxeyites out of work attempted to enlist in Sullivan's Commonweal army here, but were refused, as they had no clear idea of the purposes of the movement.

SENATORS BY DIRECT VOTE

The Senate Committee Will Favorably Report Mr. Tucker's Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The house committee on election of the president and vice president has voted to make a favorable report on the bill of Representative Tucker, of Virginia, providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people. The report was agreed upon by a nearly unanimous vote. But one Republican member of the committee was present at the meeting.

Representative Tucker, in his report, notes that the bill is on what with one that passed the house last session. He said that the necessity for the passage of such an amendment to the constitution has increased rather than diminished since that time. The report says of the senate:

"Originally ordained as a bulwark to protect the state governments against the encroachments of the federal power, it is now, in the popular mind, believed to be, under the guise of constitutional courtesy, an open obstruction to the popular will. The best thought of the country, through the press and leading magazines, is demanding that no effete traditions should stand in the way of effectuating the popular intent, properly and fully expressed at the polls. No radical in some sections of the country has the feeling of hostility to the senate because that the sentiment is freely expressed that the senate has outlived its career of usefulness, and members of the house have not infrequently been solicited to follow the example of our English cousins and pass a resolution through the house to abolish the senate as a co-ordinate department of the government."

The Presbyterian Seminaries.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 23.—The question of theological seminary control, so far as the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church is concerned, is settled. By a vote of almost four to one the report of the majority of the committee that considered the matter was adopted yesterday. The report provides for granting the power and right to approve the appointments of professors and directors, and asks the directors of the seminaries to declare a trust in favor of the Presbyterian church which the General Assembly may endorse. At the same time a committee is provided which shall confer and advise with the seminaries and seek to gain their consent to the proposed plan. The report was put through the assembly in spite of urgent requests for delay, and in the face of protests from those who declared that the church and the institutions affected might be cancelled.

The Miners Will Capitulate.

PITTSBURG, May 23.—The coal miners will fight vigorously against a sixty-five cent rate. They are certain they can secure at least sixty-cent rates, and they will not go to work for less. The meeting of operators at Philadelphia is regarded as a challenge by the miners. They feel that a battle of endurance was laid down, and they are prepared to meet it. At an informal meeting of delegates who attended the Cleveland convention the action of the operators' meeting was discussed, and it was generally agreed that the miners would be firmer than ever and would be willing to fight to the end.

Whitecap Riot in Arkansas.

FORDYCE CITY, Ark., May 23.—A bloody riot occurred here yesterday afternoon. The trouble was brought about over the arrest of certain prominent citizens of St. Francis county, charged with whitecapism. Dallas Webber, who had been engaged to run the whitecaps down, was attacked by friends of the parties he had arrested. Shooting followed and Webber was instantly killed and Deputy Sheriff Smith seriously wounded. Frank Gorman a merchant of Palestine is charged with doing the shooting and has been arrested.

FRENCH MINISTRY OUT.

Defeated in the Assembly, Carnot's Advisers Resign.

SPLIT ON THE LABOR QUESTION.

The Minister of Works, M. Jonnart, Declared Against Government Employes Belonging to Trades Unions—An Eight Hour Law Referred.

PARIS, May 23.—The government was defeated yesterday in the chamber of deputies on the question as to whether the minister of public works had the authority to allow the employes of the state railroads to attend the congress of railroad men. The premier, M. Casimir-Perier, demanded the adoption of the order of the day, pure and simple. The motion was rejected by a vote of 305 to 223. M. Casimir-Perier thereupon left the Palais Bourbon and the ministers proceeded to the Elysee Palace and notified President Carnot of their intention to resign. Today the resignations were formally tendered.

Previous to the defeat of the government the Socialist deputy, Jules Guesde, moved that eight hours be constituted a legal day's work for all working people throughout France, and demanded urgency for the motion, amid loud cheers and encouraging cries from the Socialists. M. Guesde declared that the time was ripe for the reform demanded by the workmen.

The minister of public works, M. Jonnart, declared that the question was too grave to be dealt with off hand, and M. Guesde's motion for urgency was thereupon rejected by a vote of 361 to 91 and the original motion in regard to the establishment of a legal day's work of eight hours was referred to the commission on labor.

M. Jaures, Socialist, then asked whether the minister of public works had the authority to allow the employes of the state railroads to attend the congress of railroad men.

M. Jonnart said that he could not interfere with the decisions of the directors of railroads. Personally, he thought that the permission might be granted upon the condition that the service was not impaired by such attendance.

Referring to the state railroads law of 1884, respecting trades unions, M. Jonnart said that it could not be applied to state employes, adding: "If we permitted them to form unions we should authorize them to revolt against the authorities."

The last remark of the minister of public works called forth violent protests from the members of the Left. Millerand, Socialist, said the railroad companies always refused to permit their workmen to attend such congresses and the government directly encouraged them by the attitude which it had assumed today, adding: "If the government refuses to state employes the right to organize, it is in order to encourage the big companies to defy the law."

Millerand moved on the order of the day that the order which was accepted by the government in 1884, and at that time adopted, and which coincided with the declaration that "the chamber invites the government to compel the big companies, especially the state companies, to respect the law of 1884."

The minister of public works said some of the railroad companies had accorded the necessary permission to their workmen to attend the congress.

M. Deramel, Radical, moved that the chamber invite the government not to make any difference between state and private companies.

At this stage of the proceedings the premier interposed, exclaiming: "The government rejects both motions and asks the chamber to adopt the order of the day, pure and simple."

The premier's motion was rejected by a vote of 275 to 225 and M. Casimir-Perier immediately left the chamber, followed by the ministers, amid uproar and cheers from the Left and the consternation of the Centre parts.

Priority being granted in favor of M. Millerand's motion, it was rejected by 345 to 224, and M. Millerand said he would support M. Deramel's motion. After a few excited speeches Deramel's motion was adopted by a vote of 291 to 233. The chamber then adjourned until Monday.

It is considered that the fact that a second vote was taken by the chamber in the absence of the ministers precludes the possibility of compromise. M. Casimir-Perier will withdraw and it is thought that part of his colleagues will consent to enter any new administration.

The New, Cheap Substitute for Common Plaster.

It is very hard and very adhesive; it does away with the "sanded" and shrinkage of coats and casings, and the building is not saturated with water, as is necessarily true when common plaster is used; it costs originally but little more than lime plaster, and in the end its superior qualities make it immeasurably cheaper; it saves waiting several weeks or months for the building to dry out; it does not crack or fall off even in the case of fire; it is applied easily by any good plasterer; it is the only material with which repairing can be done neatly and to stay.

In through the lifted shutter,
Which closed and held it fast.
Although 'twas but an instant
By some mysterious art
The camera drank its beauty,
And treasured it at heart.
And wrote the vision down
With all its charming grace,
And gave to me a copy—
It was my sweetheart's face.
So here it is before me,
Perfuming all the room
Among sweet wild rose blossoms
Which never cease to bloom.

A picture and a frame—
Which sweetest, who can tell,
The frame of June's fresh roses
That from the magic spell
Of Her dear touch drew life,
And stole her blushed pink,
Or her own pretty likeness
Of whom it's sweet to think?
With flowers for a frame
So rare that nature's flowers
Would wonder whence they came.

MISS THANKFUL.

It seemed to be one of the ironies of fate that her name should have been Miss Thankful Hope. Strangers smiled instinctively at the name when they first met her, for to them there was so little in her narrow life to be thankful for, and nothing to hope for. And yet to those of the limited number who grew to know Miss Thankful the name was, after all, quite appropriate.

She was a faded looking little woman of 43, whose plain face was only redeemed by a pair of smiling brown eyes. She was a dry seamstress and made enough to pay her board and usually to keep herself suitably clothed.

It was a standing joke among the other boarders that no matter how disagreeable the day Miss Thankful could always find something pleasant to be said about it. And, no matter how unprepossessing the last new boarder, Miss Thankful's kind heart was sure to discover some excuse.

She had watched Florence, Mrs. Simmons' young daughter, grow up into womanhood and had shared her timid confidences and opinions about the different young men of the house, confidences which Florence would never have thought of telling her practical mother. There was something about Miss Thankful which invited confidence, and the two were warm friends.

It was a dull February evening, a slight snow was falling, and Miss Thankful hurried along toward home in the early dusk. The windows were lighted up and presented a tempting array of millinery, dry goods, flowers and confectionery.

But Miss Thankful did not notice any of them until she turned into Bond street, and there she walked slowly, coming to a standstill at last in front of Cooper & Cooper's large dry goods house.

She smiled as she looked in at the window. "Yes," she said softly, "it's there yet. I made sure it would be sold. So cheap too. Only $1.50." She was gazing at a blue satin party bag, lined with delicate pink, one of those dainty French affairs which always catch a woman's eye if she has any soul for pleasing effects.

"I can't afford a new dress this year. That three weeks I was sick last month put that out of the question, and so it does seem as if I could buy that bag if I want to. Only it would be silly—downright silly!" and she sighed.

"I never had anything as pretty as that. Maybe that's why I seem to have set my heart on it. Even my dresses have been brown or black. They last better.

"I've had a kind of brown and black life anyway. But there now, that sounds complaining, and I've no cause to complain. The Lord's been good to me and prospered me right along."

"Good evening, Miss Thankful," said a cheerful voice at her side. "Right nice window. Our trimmer beats any in town. Lots of pretty things, too," he added, with the pardonable pride of a head clerk.

"Good evening, Mr. Jones," answered Miss Thankful. "Yes, I was just looking in at the goods. I"—she hesitated—"was just noticing that blue satin bag over there in the corner—see?"

"Oh, yes, that pretty bag. Pretty thing. Cheap too. I know a good piece of satin when I see it. Funny it was not sold today. Will be tomorrow likely."

Miss Thankful felt her desire to possess the bag increasing.

"On your way home? Let me take your umbrella," and they walked on together.

Miss Thankful had a decided liking for this one of the boarders, partly because he never forgot to show her the same courtesy that he would show to Florence or any younger woman. And this is very gratifying to a woman who has no claim to youth or beauty.

He was a timid young man, with a colorless mustache and dark hair, who talked with a jerk, but Miss Thankful always liked him.

When they reached the boarding house, she went very thoughtfully up to her room. Mr. Jones had determined most of the way upon the laudable qualities Florence possessed, all of which remarks she had heartily seconded. When she had lighted the gas, she sat down with the thoughtful expression still on her face.

"I wonder," she said. "I do just wonder. But he would never make the shining sun have the courage to tell her," and she smiled.

"Mr. Jones—I name I do abominate, and Florence so pretty—and him with those colorless eyes and washed out hair! But then he is just as kind as he can be, and I make no doubt would be a good provider."

The next night when Miss Thankful came into her room she turned on both the gas jets—an extravagance. She carried a small parcel done up in tissue paper, and before she stopped to take off her bonnet she went over to the bed and untied the package. It was the blue satin party bag.

"It's a lot prettier than it was at the store," she said, smiling at it where it lay spread out on the white cover in all the arrogance of assured beauty.

"Those pink roses are lovely. I'm silly as I can be. I know that well enough! That's why I asked Mr. Jones not to speak of my getting it. Maybe next summer I can have a lawn with a little blue sprig in it. This would go beautifully with that. I don't think I'm too old for a lawn on a hot day, and I'm just glad I got it—so there!" Then she wrapped up the bag and put it away in her trunk.

After supper Florence came up to visit her, and Miss Thankful was tempted to tell her about it. But she was full of her own plans, and the bag was not mentioned.

"There is to be a party tomorrow evening at Mary Moore's. It's the 14th, you know," said Florence happily. "I am going to wear my blue cloth dress. I've worn it a lot, Miss Thankful, but mother says I may have a new sash. That will freshen it up. But, oh, I wish, I do wish I could have a party bag that I saw down in Cooper's window. It was a light blue and lined with pink. Such a beauty! I wish you had seen it. I can't have anything but the sash, though, and so there is no use in wishing."

"I did see it," said Miss Thankful, "and it was pretty. I sorter wished for it myself."

Florence laughed. "Oh, of course, you would not want it, but if you had seen it 20 years ago you might have," she said, with the serene thoughtlessness of youth.

Miss Thankful grew silent.

"Mr. Jones has asked me to go to evening service twice lately," she went on presently.

"I think he is about the best looking young man here, don't you, Miss Thankful? He never talks much, but I suppose he thinks a great deal. I used to think he disliked me, he stammered so whenever I spoke to him, but I guess it was just because he didn't feel acquainted."

And then followed a recital of Mr. Jones' sayings.

After she had gone Miss Thankful sat for a long, long time in front of the grate, with sad dreamy eyes fixed on the fire. She was going over in her mind a time 25 years before.

"He was a thing like Mr. Jones," she said. "He was good looking and so tall, but he was just as timid, and I noted as carelessly and indifferent as I knew how. Girls are foolish creatures. He never got up the courage to tell me. And then we moved away, and that was all. No other man ever looked at me, and I can't say as I want them to."

She undressed slowly. She felt old. This looking back at one's youth has a tendency to make one feel old if it lies 25 years behind one.

When she was all ready for bed, she opened the trunk and took out the party bag.

She opened the door and listened. Everything was still in the dim hall. Florence's room was only a few doors away. Miss Thankful slipped noiselessly along, and when she reached the door she hung the ribbon over the knob and as softly stole back.

She had put no card in the bag; there was no need. Florence would know who sent it, and then she went to bed and to sleep.

The next morning Florence knocked at the door almost before Miss Thankful was dressed and came in with a flushed, happy face.

"Oh, Miss Thankful," she cried, "I have had the loveliest gift! What do you think!—that blue satin party bag!

"Of course Mr. Jones sent it. I asked him last night if it was sold yet, and he grew just as red and stammered so. I know why now. Mother says I may keep it, and I wrote him a note of thanks this morning and put it under his plate. That was the easiest way of thanking him. He is having an early breakfast now, so I thought I would wait and go down with you this time." And she fluttered about the room in happy excitement.

Meantime Mr. Jones was in a very uncertain and puzzled state of bliss. The note had thanked him for his beautiful gift, but neglected to tell what the gift was.

He left the house without being able to get a glimpse of Florence.

At noon there was another tiny white missive under his door. But this, much to his disappointment, proved to be from Miss Thankful.

"Dear Mr. Jones—Florence thanks you sent that satin bag. It would be dreadful for her to know differently after thanking you for it. For her sake, please do not ever tell her that you did not. Your friend, THANKFUL HOPE."

Mr. Jones studied this note with smiling eyes.

"For her sake," that clause gave him a quick thrill of pleasure. She would be sorry to find out, then, that it was not his gift.

He must answer Florence's note, and this was the result of a half dozen attempts:

"Dear Miss Thompson—That bag could not hold the valentine I would like to give you if I dared. It is the biggest and handsomest valentine a young lady ever got. If you care to have me tell you about it, please carry the blue satin bag when you come down to dinner.

EDWARD JONES."

He could hear Florence singing in her room, and he called the bellboy and sent the note to her.

"There now," he said, when this had been accomplished, "if it had not been for Miss Thankful I would never have had the grit to send that, and, what's more, I believe Miss Thankful knew it, bless her!

"If Florence does have that blue thing on her arm, I'll give Miss Thankful the very best dress that Cooper & Cooper have in the store."

And Miss Thankful got the dress.—Ann Doming Gray in Hartford Courant.

"Shave your Soap"

—so the soap makers say, especially if you're washing delicate things. Now, in the name of common sense, what's the use? When you can get Pearline—powder—for the very same thing, why do you waste time, labor and money over soap, which it isn't good for anything, puts you to hard and difficult to cut. Besides, Pearline is vastly better than any powdered soap could be. It has all the good properties of any soap—and many more, too. There's something in it that does the work easily, but without harm—much more easily than any other way yet known.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled. If your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 399 JAMES PYLE, New York.

LISTEN!

"LISTEN" may not be good grammar in asking you to read something in a newspaper, but the object is to attract your attention, and the word is striking, so many things in the way of new publications have been offered, and they have been so shrewdly advertised, that how to tell of something really the greatest thing yet,

Something Everybody Should Read,

Is a difficult thing to do. Yet, if you only could listen, it would have the effect of making you resolve to get the latest publication, which is called

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

This is what it is: It is a work in 10 parts, of 10 pages each, each page containing a portrait reproduced from a recent photograph of some American man or woman, prominent in the affairs of the country, and still living. Beneath each photograph so reproduced is a short, but complete and graphic story of the life of such person up to the present time. The series will thus include the absolute portraits, as they look to day, of the 236 leading people on this continent, and also the story of their lives. Think how valuable such a work must be to anybody! Think how interesting it must be to anybody!

That is all. That is all there is to say. It is the most remarkable work of the present age. It is a new departure in publication. It is something that ought to be in every household, that the children of every household should study, and that should be read by everybody assuming to be intelligent and up to the times.

You Can Get This Work Only Through the Daily Argus and Mercury.

HERE ARE the TERMS.

IN EVERY ISSUE OF THE ARGUS AND MERCURY will appear a numbered coupon. Cut this coupon out and bring or forward it, together with TEN CENTS, to the Coupon Department of the ARGUS and MERCURY and there will be delivered or mailed to you one number of the series as above. The remaining parts can be obtained as issued, one each week, by the readers of the ARGUS and MERCURY under the same conditions.

Miss Mankin.

My daughter, Miss Mankin, was sick and we called in one of the best doctors here. She got so weak that I had to help her out of bed and draw her in a chair. We then tried some of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In less than a week she was out of bed and has been working about five weeks now, and looks the picture of health. As for myself I am much better of my female complaints, before taking the "Favorite Prescription." I suffered most of the time from catarrhal inflammation. Yours respectfully,

A MAN WITH A HISTORY.

THE TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE THAT BEFELL JOHN W. THOMAS OF THETA, TENNESSEE.

Afflicted with a Peculiar Disease—His Body Covered with Lumps—Could not eat and Thought He was Going to dry up—His Recovery the Marvel of Tennesssee.

From the Nashville, Tenn., Banner.

Mr. John W. Thomas Jr., of Theta Tenn., is a man with a most interesting history. At present he is interested in blooded horses for which Maury County is famous.

"Few people I take it," said Mr. Thomas to a reporter who had asked him for the story of his life, "have passed through as remarkable a chain of events as I have and remained to tell the story.

"It was along in 1884, when I was working in the silver mines of New Mexico, that my troubles began; at first I suffered with indigestion, and so acute did the pains become that I went to California for my health, but the trip did me little good, and fully impressed with the idea that my last day had nearly dawned upon me, I hurried back here to my old home to die.

"From simple indigestion my malady developed into a chronic inability to take any substantial food. I was barely able to creep about and at times I was prostrated by spells of heart palpitation. This condition continued until one year ago.

"On the 11th of April, 1893, I suddenly collapsed, and for days I was unconscious, in fact I was not fully myself until July. My condition on September 1st was simply horrible, I weighed but seventy pounds, whereas my normal weight is 165 pounds. All over my body there were lumps from the size of a grape to the size of a walnut, my fingers were cramped so that I could not more than half straighten them. I had entirely lost control of my lower limbs, and my hand trembled so that I could not drink without spilling the liquid. Nothing would remain on my stomach, and it seemed that I must dry up before many more days had passed.

"I made another round of the physicians, calling on one after the other, and by the aid of morphine and other medicines they gave me, I managed to live, though barely, through the fall."

Here Mr. Thomas displayed his arms, and just above the elbow of each there was a large irregular stain as large as the palm of the hand and of a purple color. The space covered by the mark was sunken nearly to the bone. "That," said Mr. Thomas, "is what the doctors did by putting morphine into me.

"On the 11th of December, 1893, just eight months after I took permanently to bed—I shall never forget the date—my cousin, Joe Foster, of Carter's Creek, called on me and gave me a box of Dr. Williams's Pink Pills for Pale People, saying they had cured him of partial paralysis, with which I knew he had all but died. I followed his directions and began taking the medicine. As a result I stand before you the most surprised man on earth. Look at my hand, it is as steady as yours; my face has a healthy look about it; I have been attending to my duties for a month. Since I began taking the pills I have gained thirty pounds, and I am still gaining. All the knots have disappeared from my body except this little kernel here in my palm. I have a good appetite and I am almost as strong as ever I was.

"Yesterday I rode thirty-seven miles on horseback, I feel about to-day but one skin. I used to have from two to four spells of heart palpitation every night, since I began the use of the pills I have had but two spells altogether.

"I honestly believe that I was cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I do not hesitate to say that it is the most wonderful remedy in existence. In fact, so strongly do I feel on the subject that I have procured a supply of the pills, and intend to keep them in the house. Many a valuable life may be saved by their timely use."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale or sallow cheeks. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. They are never sold in bulk or by the dozen or hundred, and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company.

Looks Bad for Mme. Jouiaux.

BRUSSELS, May 23.—It has just leaked out that ten centigrammes of morphine have been found in the liver of Alfred Abley, Mme. Jouiaux's brother. This is much more than enough to have killed him, and the fact seems sufficient to settle the guilt of the lady accused, unless she can prove that her brother committed suicide, which other evidence renders most improbable.

Believes Henry Died of Fright.

PARIS, May 23.—Dr. Bernoit, one of the faculty of the Ecole de Medicine, after a thorough examination of the body of Emile Henry, the anarchist who was beheaded Monday morning, expresses his opinion that Henry was already dead when the knife fell. Dr. Bernoit believes that the anarchist died from syncope, due to intense excitement before the knife was released.

Kansas Miners Get an Advance.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., May 23.—Following the advance in the wages of the men of the Leavenworth Coal company, the Home Mining company announced an increase of ten cents per ton for mining coal, making the price ninety cents. The miners are jubilant. At the advanced price about two-thirds of the miners will make from $4.75 a day. There is no probability of a strike now.

Gates for Governor of Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 23.—The Democratic convention yesterday nominated Congressman William C. Oates for governor. Three ballots were taken on the first ballot. Oates received 276 votes to Johnston's 209. Captain Johnston, the defeated candidate, made the nominating speech in which he pledged his loyal support to the ticket and urged unanimity in the party ranks.

If [illegible] incurable they will tell you so, therefore [illegible] must not take offense if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month. Office hours from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE

A Number of Interesting Clashes Between Republicans and Democrats.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The senate disposed of seven paragraphs of the metal schedule yesterday, after eight hours of debate. The debate was marked by quite a number of interesting clashes between the Republicans and Democrats. The sensational feature of the day was caused by the unexpected presentation by Mr. Jones of an amendment substituting the McKinley bill classification and specific rates on round iron coils, blooms and charcoal iron, somewhat higher than those already proposed. This amendment was a surprise to some senators on both sides, although evidently anticipated by Mr. Quay and a few others of his colleagues. Mr. Hale tried to use it as a text for taunting the Democratic side, and Mr. Teller read him a very plain lecture on the duty of the Republicans to accept such increases as the Democrats were willing to grant without continually chiding their adversaries with inconsistencies. When the vote was taken seven Democrats and two Populists refused to support the Jones substitute.

The question of civil service reform was given full sway in the house yesterday, the occasion being the amendment to strike out the paragraph in the legislative appropriation bill, providing for the civil service commission. It gave opportunity for some stirring and not a few amusing speeches. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 109 to 71, amid great Democratic applause and Republican cries of "spoils." No other amendments of any importance were made in the bill, the only ones adopted being to correct the totals of a few amendments to which amendments were made on Monday. In the early proceedings the resolution to investigate the alleged armor plate frauds was adopted.

The American Trust.

BALTIMORE, May 23.—The American trust was formally organized yesterday, with a capital of $1,000,000. The directors include leading bankers and financiers here, Governor Frank Brown, of Maryland; Walter S. Johnston and August Belmont, of New York; John B. Garrett, of Philadelphia, and A. A. H. Boissevain, of London. The company will transact a general trust business and act as financial agent for states, cities, towns, railroads and other corporations. The stockholders include some of the best known bankers and capitalists in America and Europe. Its first object is to bring together certain large financial interests in this city, New York and London.

Fearing a Fight with Strikers.

DANVILLE, Ills., May 23.—Twenty-two deputy sheriffs have surrounded the Mission Field mines, and forty Winchester rifles and 100 revolvers were taken out to the mines yesterday. It is said here that the striking miners will go the Mission Field 800 strong, and President Ridgeley, of the Consolidated Coal company, at Springfield, has called on the governor for help.

STAUNTON, Ills., May 23.—The Consolidated Coal company, in order to protect the Staunton miners from strikers, have secured 100 Winchester shotguns, with several hundred pounds of shells loaded with buckshot.

Corrupt Aldermen Indicted.

HAVERHILL, Mass., May 23.—The grand jury reported seven indictments against Fred H. Kent, William W. Hunt, George O. Tilton and Hadley H. Hoyt, Haverhill aldermen, on the charge of accepting bribes in connection with the granting of Liquor Licenses. Fred M. Smith, of the wholesale liquor house of T. L. Smith & Son, Frank and Charles H. Kimball, Haverhill, agent for the Smiths, were likewise indicted on the charge of soliciting to obtain bribes. Thomas McDonald was indicted on four counts on the charge of offering Aldermen Hoyt, and was held in $2,000.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 23, 1894.

Mr. Hirschberg is the only constitutional convention delegate from this district, who secured the chairmanship of a committee. He is at the head of the committee on Privileges and Elections.

The Tribune, in its account of yesterday's tariff debate, carefully eliminates all reference to Senator Teller's rebuke to his party associates for their dilatory policy. The Tribune is the only so-called newspaper in the country that suppresses the truth when it does not happen to agree with the editorial policy to which the paper is committed.

Many of the most thoughtful and conservative citizens of Des Moines, Ia., have petitioned for the licensing of saloons in that city under the State's new liquor law, experience having shown that prohibition by developing private clubs and forcing the purchase of liquor by the jug for private use has caused more drunkenness than the saloons were ever responsible for.

We don't hear much about McKinley for President, of late—in fact his name is now scarcely mentioned in connection therewith. He lost ground greatly by the recent election of the Democratic candidate in his own Congressional district, but that only in part accounts for his passing out. What is killing him off is the tariff measure of which he is the putative author. His party, it can safely be predicted, will never go before the people committed to its re enactment, consequently it is with McKinley, shorn of his tariff, as it is with the old arithmetical proposition—"take something from nothing, and nothing remains."

Commodore P. Vedder, a delegate-at-large, lost no time in submitting a partisan proposition to the Constitutional Convention. As soon as it reassembled, yesterday, he introduced an overture looking to the establishment of Senate and Assembly districts which shall not be changed and providing that when the population of any district shall have increased up to a certain number, such district shall have an additional representative. The object of this is to retain for the Republican rural counties their present representation and to prevent the growing Democratic cities from obtaining the increased representation to which their increase of population entitles them under the present system.

One of the partisan bills rushed through by the Republican majority in the New Jersey Legislature was a measure transferring the custody of the Essex county penitentiary from the Democratic Board of Freeholders to the Republican Sheriff. The only reason for passing the bill was to provide places as keepers for Republican henchmen. It is now discovered that the act was so carelessly drawn that the legal status of the penitentiary as a county jail is destroyed and prisoners cannot be committed to it for offenses punishable by imprisonment in a county jail. It is also discovered that all laws providing for furnishing food for the prisons have been repealed, and since any legislation to meet the emergency would be special and consequently prohibited by the constitution the only alternative is to repeal the partisan act or permit the prisoners to starve.

Senator Teller rebuked his party associates, yesterday, for their dilatory tactics in opposition to the tariff bill, and his rebuke was not without effect, for after he had taken his seat, there was less "rap" on the part of the obstructionists. Mr. Teller said that there was no use taunting Democratic Senators with the inconsistencies of the bill, for it was impossible to make a tariff bill without more or less inconsistencies. He reminded the Republican leaders that they had been forced to include inconsistent features in the McKinley bill in order to secure its passage. Continuing, he said that the Democrats would pass the bill in some shape and he would aid them in any amendment which would make the bill better from a Republican standpoint. The bill, as drawn, afforded ample protection to many interests and the needs of the government for revenue are so great that in his opinion a bill for revenue only, if wisely constructed, would afford ample protection to four-fifths of the industries of the country. Mr. Teller urged his Republican associates to address themselves to tariff legislation like practical business men not like petty politicians. Every day of delay meant damage and loss to the business of the country, and Congress owed it to manufacturers and their employes to relieve them from suspense.

When Senator Jones, yesterday, proposed an amendment to the tariff bill restoring the McKinley rates on iron more advanced in manufacture than pig iron and less finished than bar iron, the Republican leaders began as usual to fight for delay, Mr. Sherman asking that it be printed and go over till to-morrow. The senators from Pennsylvania particularly desired the passage of the amendment in the interest of the iron manufacturers of that State and Mr. Jones, realizing the advantage that this fact gave him, said he would not insist on the amendment and would withdraw it. Senator Quay then offered the amendment and he and Senator Cameron made personal appeals to the Democratic senators to allow it to pass. The appeal was not in vain, but it seems to have been stipulated that they should "call down" the Republican obstructionists, for several of the moderate Republicans joined with Senators Quay and Cameron in asking the talkers on their side to use a little sense in their opposition to the bill and not drive Democrats to abandon amendments in which Republican senators are much interested. The effect of this practical warning and of Senator Teller's lecture was to tone down the Republican leaders very materially. There was little dilatory talk, and paragraph after paragraph was agreed to without a division. Taken altogether it was the best day that the tariff bill has had since it came before the Senate.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Two Memorials Presented—The Comptroller and State Board of Charities Asked for Information.

By United Press

ALBANY, May. 23.—There was a scanty representation of delegates when the convention was called to order, this morning. The appointees of the Secretary were sworn in.

The Chairman handed down a memorial, asking the convention to draft a prohibition amendment. A memorial from the National League for the Protection of American Institutions was presented, praying that the appropriation of public moneys for sectarian institutions be prohibited.

A resolution was offered calling upon the Comptroller to furnish any information in his possession in regard to property exempt from taxation; also calling on the State Board of Charities to furnish a list of charitable institutions in the State, and the amount of money appropriated for them during the past five years. All were referred.

KELLY WILL KEEP OFF THE GRASS

BUTTZ BEFORE THE SENATE COMMITTEE.

Nothing Known as to His Testimony—A Lawyer's Unimportant Evidence.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Buttz, the alleged bribe, who was much wanted by the Senate Bribery Committee, yesterday, was on hand, to-day. Buttz was on the stand for an hour. He refused to give an inkling to his testimony. He said he hadn't run away and didn't intend to, for he was innocent of the charge against him. The man Buttz was looking for, yesterday, will be summoned.

Lawyer Holman, of this city, was a witness before the Committee. His testimony was that a Mr. Harris, now dead, in the presence of Buttz in one of the committee rooms, had said he would give a thousand dollars to know how the Populist Senators would vote on the tariff. Mr. Holman declared that it was an idle remark.

After the Grip

In Misery—No Appetite or Strength

Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Appetite and Full Strength.

"After I had the grip in the winter I felt so miserable and was in such poor health that I was nearly discouraged, had no appetite for anything, and everything I ate I had to force down. My back was so lame it was almost impossible to lift a kettle from the stove. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken all of it

I Felt Ever So Much Better.

It gave me a good appetite and I could eat a hearty meal and enjoy it, and the lameness in my back has all gone. Hood's Sarsaparilla seemed to tone my stomach and make it feel better than anything else I have ever taken. I am now well." MRS. MARY ZIMMERMAN, Verona, N. Y.

DID YOU EVER TRY TO SAVE $500

Or even half of it? It was a tough job, wasn't it? You often felt like using the money, didn't you? That was because you knew you had it in your pocket or the bank. Could you save up $250 to buy a piano? Doubtful, but you wouldn't miss $10 a month if you could pay it that way and get a first-class Piano from the start.

That is just what we are in business for. Although we sell Pianos and Organs for cash, and at prices that cannot be beaten in the world, we also sell the same instruments on credit terms, asking only a small per cent. for the accommodation. It's the best and easiest way that you can secure a Piano or Organ. The latter are only $5 per month.

PEOPLE CAN'T SEE

How we can set up such a fine glass of Ice Cream Soda for 5 cents! Well, some things are done for profit, some for glory, and some just for advertisement. If you get into the habit of dropping into our drug store and find, as you will, everything there right in quality and price, why, we've gained a customer.

The Soda Water is only the keynote—but it's clear, sweet and pure, typical of the high grade of all else we offer.

HOW TO FIT A TRUSS?

Well, that's one of the things to be learned only by experience. It's been one of our specialties for many years, and now it comes easy. Our prices, too, are like our trusses—easily borne. Some pretty steep figures have been asked for trusses not far from here. The victim ought to know better than to pay four times what we charge for as good an article.

HYMENEAL.

LaRue—Moffit.

There was an interesting wedding at St. Joseph's Church, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when Mr. Jacob LaRue, the well known blacksmith on Canal street, and Miss Kittie, daughter of Mr. Jeremiah Moffit, were united in marriage by Rev. Father Lenes.

The church was filled with friends of the contracting parties.

Miss Jennie Moffit, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. James Short as best man.

The bride wore a handsome dress of tan colored melrose cloth, with moire silk trimmings. The bridesmaid's dress was of the same material, trimmed with brown moire silk.

After the ceremony the young couple received the congratulations of their friends, and were then driven to Bennett street, where they had a cosy home prepared for occupancy.

The ARGUS joins with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. LaRue in hearty congratulations and best wishes for their future happiness.

Ready for Business.

The Skidmore Mercantile Company began business, to-day, in its wholesale grocery store, on Cottage street. Smith Fancher, of Warwick, who has been with the company's Newburgh house for three years will have charge of the Middletown store.

PROBABLE DOUBLE MURDER

SULLIVAN COUNTY AGAIN THE SCENE OF A TRAGEDY.

The Spring Grove House's French Cook, Justice of the Antipodes of Two Mountain Dale Citizens to the Chambermaids, Shoots Both Men—Sought Safety in Flight, But is Captured This Morning.

Sullivan county, which has gained unenviable notoriety on account of the many tragedies that have been enacted within its borders, seems fated to keep up its record. Following close upon the Halliday crimes, came the Bushville double murder, and the excitement over that affair having died out, Mountain Dale comes to the front with a first class sensation.

Mountain Dale is a small village on the O. and W. road, twenty-three miles north of Middletown, and on account of its pure mountain air is a favorite summer resort.

Among the large summer boarding houses at this place is the Spring Grove House, located about a quarter of a mile from the depot, the property of Franklin M. Olds, a Newark, N. J., lawyer.

On Friday last, Mr. Olds went to Mountain Dale to open his house and took with him a French cook, named Materazzo, and two young women to act as chambermaids and waitresses.

Materazzo, it would seem, had formed an attachment for one or both of the young women or else regarded it as part of his duty to act as their protector, for when, last evening, the girls left the house to walk to the post office, Materazzo followed, keeping them in sight.

LYING IN WAIT.

After leaving the Post Office the girls started to walk home leisurely and on the way met Joseph Lynch and Con. Brechisham, one a canal boatman and the other a laborer. The men enraged the girls in conversation and finally started to walk with them.

Materazzo, had been watching, unobserved by any of the parties, and his jealously had worked him into a fierce passion and he thought only of vengeance and proceeded to take it. Rushing up to the parties he whipped out his revolver and began firing at the men.

Materazzo, when he saw both men fall, ran away, and took refuge in an Italian's hut in the woods.

THE ASSASSIN IS MISSING.

The girls gave the alarm and the citizens turned out and while some cared for the wounded men, others started in pursuit of the Frenchman, but as it was dark and they knew he was armed and was a desperate character they were afraid to approach the shanty, but kept watch until this morning, when a crowd collected, surrounded the hut and captured Materazzo, who was hurried off to Monticello jail.

NATURE OF THE WOUNDS.

An examination of the wounded men by a physician showed that Brechisham was shot in the left breast and that the ball had lodged in the back, near the spinal column.

Lynch was shot near the pit of the stomach and the ball passed upward lodging in his right lung near the shoulder.

The wounds are considered very serious to say the least, and both are probably mortal. There is little hope for Brechisham.

The above is the story as given to us by a resident of Mountain Dale, this morning. A reporter was dispatched to the scene of the tragedy by the first train, and at 2:30, this afternoon, telegraphed the following additional particulars.

FURTHER DETAILS.

MOUNTAIN DALE, May 23.—The tragedy occurred at 9.30 o'clock last night, 200 feet south of the station. The girls' names are Rose Murphy, aged eighteen, and Mary McClain, aged twenty-six. The men and girls met at an Italian shanty, at 8:30, and spent an hour there. Each drank three glasses of cider. On the way home they were met by the cook, who struck Rose Murphy, knocking her down. Brechisham remonstrated,

THEN THE SHOOTING occurred.

and Lynch saw the Frenchman draw a revolver, and grappled with him. In the struggle he was shot in the left breast, the powder setting fire to his clothing. Both men fell, and, while lying down, Materazzo shot Brechisham as he attempted to kick the revolver from his hand. The cook and the girls fled to Olds's house, and the wounded men went to James Carden's store, where their wounds were dressed by Dr. J. F. Curlette.

ASSISTED ARREST.

Materazzo was arrested at the shanty, this morning, by Constable Mosshill assisted by George Carden. He defended himself with a stiletto, but finally surrendered at the point of a revolver and was taken to Monticello Jail.

Coroner John Norton, of Monticello, took the ante mortem statements of both men and the testimony of the girls, both of whom are held as witnesses.

THE LAST RIGHTS.

Rev. M. J. Brennan, rector of St. Mary's Church, of Ellenville, administered the sacrament to both men. Their wounds are considered very dangerous by the physician.

The coroner telegraphed Sheriff Beecher to return the prisoner for identification.

There was strong talk of lynching last night and to-day.

WAS THE COOK JEALOUS?

The girls and cook are strangers to the wounded men. They met the first time, Sunday night. Lynch says the cook was jealous and there had been no previous quarrel.

Brechisham had just been released from Kingston jail where he served four months for assaulting a peddler.

Lynch belongs to a good family. Both men are single and both are twenty-nine years old. Drs. Curlette and McWilliams, of Monticello, removed the bullet from Brechisham, this afternoon.

The men are resting easily.

I interviewed the girls, who say that Materazzo acted in self defense and shot while on his back on the ground, the men being on top and beating him.

DROWNED IN SUMMIT LAKE.

The Body of an Unknown Man Found in Shallow Water at the Edge of the Pond.

About 3:30 o'clock, this afternoon, an Italian laborer at the Summit discovered the body of a man in the edge of Summit Lake in front of the ice houses.

He gave the alarm and the body was dragged from the water, and message sent from the tower to the Erie depot to send the coroner and undertaker.

The body is that of a man about forty years old, five feet, seven or eight inches tall, dark hair and mustache, mixed with grey. His clothing was well worn and faded.

The man has evidently been a sailor, for his arms are tattooed from the shoulders to the hand, and on the back of one hand are tattooed the letters "S. W."

The man's coat was lying on the bank and beside it was a lunch, of which he had evidently been eating.

The water was only about two feet deep at this point, and it is believed that the man was seized with a fit and fell into the water.

The man has been seen about the summit for two or three days.

No one is able to identify him and there was nothing on his person that would serve to identify him.

It is believed the body had not been in the water more than an hour at the most, when it was discovered.

Central New York Trotting Circuit.

The horsemen of central New York have formed a trotting circuit which will take in the towns of Afton, Waterville, Norwich, Sidney and Oneonta. A meeting of the representatives of the racing associations is to be held soon and dates are to be agreed upon. There will probably be two meets during the season. The purses offered will be small.

Sharp Pugnacious Encounter To-morrow.

Remember the Mary Powell excursion, to-morrow, (Thursday, May 24) for the benefit of Thrall Hospital. Train leaves Wickham avenue, 9:45 a. m., Main street, 9:55 a. m. Fare one dollar round trip. Secure your tickets in advance. Tickets will be on sale at both stations, to-night, till 9:30 p. m.

Shot in the Neck.

James McNulty, watchman at the electric power house at Newburgh, threw his coat, in the pocket of which was his revolver, upon the bench, when the weapon was discharged, the ball striking McNulty in the neck and passing from the front to the back, where it lodged under the skin. The wound is not regarded as dangerous.

DeWitt Camp's Basket Social.

The basket social given by DeWitt Camp, S. of V., last evening, was a very pleasant affair, the basket feature especially so as the baskets contained a quantity of good things that were disposed of at a late hour. About forty couples were present and dancing was kept up until after midnight.

Took a Commandery Degree.

Messrs. W. M. Combs, Geo. H. Decker, I. B. A. Taylor and Louis Fouquet went to Port Jervis, last evening, to attend the meeting of the Delaware Commandery, and all of the gentlemen named took the Malta degree. The Middletowners were accompanied by Messrs. Thos. Mickens and C. C. Bogart, both of whom are Knights Templar.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

The Court of Foresters—St. John's Sunday School Picnic—Recruits for the 24th Company.

From our regular correspondent.

—The officers of the Court of the Ancient Order of Foresters, recently organized in this village, will be installed, Friday night, by the Grand Officers of the order. The court starts with twenty charter members.

—St. John's Sunday School will hold its annual picnic at Glenmore Lake, to-morrow, if the weather is pleasant.

—Goshen has recently sent three recruits to join the 24th Separate Company at Middletown.

IN ANCIENT GOSHEN.

Some Personal Notes—Rainy Weather Impressions—The Day of True Privacy Has Passed Away.

From a special correspondent.

—A Mr. Horton, from Buffalo, N. Y., has rented the Van Sickle house on Main street, and will soon occupy it.

—Miss Hosford, of Brooklyn, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Frost, at her home in this village.

—We have had rain in Goshen,—real rain, not just grudging little showers, but days and nights of downpour. The country needed it. The thirsty earth drank it in greedily, but now every one, unless perhaps the farmers—no true farmer was ever known to confess that there was enough rain, has had enough. How soon one does tire of gloomy skies, sloppy sidewalks and dripping umbrellas, and long for a glimpse of the bright sunshine once more. It takes an exceptionally happy heart to make its own sunshine for several successive stormy days.

—Has it ever struck any one how little real privacy there is in the world nowadays? For one thing so many people live in flats or apartments, and then fashion decrees the removal of doors and the substitution of portieres in their place. It is almost impossible under these conditions to get a corner entirely to one's self. At most every one has times when he feels that he would like to commune with his own heart and be still, and, at such times, his family is generally perfectly willing he should have that privilege if his own heart can bear it; but there is no comfort in withdrawing to one's own den if it is on the same floor with every one else's and not a door in the place. No wonder there are more murders than there used to be. Very likely one reason is that people do not have a chance to get rid of their tootsums in private. All this is bad enough, but "worse remains behind." We read that now, during the progress of certain operations, the patient is made to swallow a small electric light, so that the surgeon may the more conveniently examine the interior arrangements of that wonderful piece of mechanism, the human body. No doubt it is much better for the operator to have a search light inside his victim, but fancy the feelings of the latter when he considers that he has the all seeing eye of Providence upon the spiritual portion of him, that of all humanity upon his exterior and the eagle orb of science in his vitals. Truly, "There is nothing hidden that shall not be revealed." G. S.

John McKee's Hippodrome on the Road.

John McKee, who, it will be remembered, gave a hippodrome exhibition of racing and chariot driving on the Campbell track, last fall, left Goshen, Monday, with six horses hitched to his chariots, to drive across country to Waverly, N. J., where the horses will be trained for a few days, preparatory to opening the season at Morristown on Memorial Day.

The 24th's Visit to Paterson.

The 24th Separate Company formally decided to accept the invitation extended by the Second Regiment of New Jersey to participate in the ceremonies of laying the corner stone of its armory in Paterson on Memorial Day. Other matters pertaining to the trip were discussed. The company will go seventy-five strong.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus' dance, and are positive that for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 104 pounds, her nervousness and sympathetic troubles are entirely gone, she has a splendid appetite, and sleeps well. She has regained complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no mother could possibly be more delighted with the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her."

"Have my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort, he sent me a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—MRS. E. E. BRIGGS, Brighton, N.Y.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, per bottle, $1. Bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates of dangerous drugs.

POWHATAN'S TRIBE.

LAST REMNANT EXISTS IN THE PAMUNKEY INDIANS OF VIRGINIA.

A Town of Ten Acres With 110 Inhabitants. Proud of Their Lineage. They Accept White Persons as Equals, but Will Have Nothing to Do With Negroes.

How strange it seems that a remnant of the once powerful confederacy of Powhatan should actually exist at this day not so very far from Washington! This last fragment of a nation, which, at the time of the landing of Columbus, occupied all of the region hereabout, including a large part of Virginia and Maryland, consists of about 110 individuals. They call themselves the Pamunkeys and dwell at what is known as "Indiantown," which is situated on and comprises the whole of a curiously shaped neck of land extending into Pamunkey river and adjoining King William county, Va., on the south. The "town" consists of 500 acres and is almost entirely surrounded by water, being connected with the mainland by a narrow strip. The comparative safety afforded by the situation in time of war is doubtless accountable for the presence of the tribe in this spot. Very likely their survival is due to the protection thus given.

On the death of Powhatan he was succeeded by Opechancanough, chief of the Pamunkeys. The tribe was at that time the most powerful of the 30 warlike tribes which composed the confederacy. The entire nation had 2,400 warriors, and comprised about 8,000 individuals. Of this population 1,000 were of the Pamunkey contingent.

Powhatan was a chief of remarkable valor and judgment. The confederacy organized under the direction of his savage genius was one of the most notable among the many unions of native American tribes. The prominence of this aboriginal nation in the early history of this country is partly due to the fact that Captain John Smith was a writer as well as an explorer. Opechancanough himself was a man of unusual ability. His leadership in the massacre of 1622 made him the most dreaded enemy ever encountered by the colonists of that period.

The Pamunkey Indians, whose distinction it is to be the only Virginia tribe that has survived the encroachment of civilization, have excited the interest of the bureau of ethnology, which has issued a bulletin describing them.

Oddly enough, their number has varied hardly at all during the last century. Jefferson, writing in 1781, estimated the population of Indiantown at 100, and Flow, nearly 70 years later, placed it at the same figure. No member of the tribe is of full blood. While the copper colored skin and the straight, coarse hair of the aboriginal American show decidedly in some individuals, there are others whose origin would not be detected by the ordinary observer. There has been considerable intermixture of white blood and not a little of that of the negro, though the laws of the tribe now strictly forbid marriage with persons of African descent.

The Pamunkeys have a great deal of race pride. Though they acknowledge the whites as equals, they consider the blacks far below them in social level. Their feeling toward the negro is illustrated by their present unwillingness to accept as school teacher for their children any but a white person. They will have nothing to do with negroes.

The Pamunkeys have also retained many of the habits of their ancestors. They still live in wigwams, though they are provided with modern furniture. They are excellent canoemen, and their canoes, which are hewn out of logs, are models of symmetry and grace. They are also expert fishermen, and their principal occupation is fishing. They go in canoes a mile or two, but never a great distance from their village. They are also fond of hunting, and their squaws are skilled in the manufacture of pottery. Their chief implements are not pottery, but bark, stone and even deer horn, used as the occasion requires. The fair sex resort to Richmond and Baltimore markets with many of the fish they catch. They take shad, bass, herring and other fish in large numbers by means of nets.

In the autumn they leave wigwams in many cases behind. They have what they call "camp houses," resembling a pound in the fashion and shape and made of pliant twigs. Before they had iron clay was utilized as the material. The "camp" is erected on a pole stuck in the marsh or placed upon it in a boat. At night a fire is kindled inside it. The light attracts the wildfowl, and they fly around it, while the Indians knock them down with poles. They wear white buttons with the intention for the purpose of shooting wildfowl, supplying the Pamunkeys as points.—Washington Star.

PETROLEUM FOR MOSQUITOES.

A Timely Suggestion as to How to Destroy the Pestilential Pests.

A Mr. L. O. Howard, who lives near the city of Washington, last year and the year before made experiments with a view to ridding his premises of the mosquito pest that proved highly satisfactory. The details of his experiments have impressed the people of New Orleans so favorably that there is talk among the city fathers there of applying the Howard system of fumes killing on a grand scale in and about that city. Mr. Howard located his mosquito breeding ground in a millpond and the adjoining marshy land near his residence. He had previously established the fact by tests in a rainwater barrel that kerosene oil is certain death to the mosquito larvæ.

When he had located the wholesale hatchery of mosquitoes, he proceeded to spray the whole area with crude petroleum. The area was about 4,000 square feet, and 15 gallons of oil at a cost of $1.70 sufficed for the work. This he did in March, when the innocent mosquito pugnacious were still slumbering unhatched in the mud and ooze. Three weeks after the sprinkling there remained a scum of oil over the area, and most of the larvæ had been killed. During the summer following Mr. Howard's first experiment very few mosquitoes survived to annoy him. The next spring he repeated the sprinkling, and during the summer of that year he had no use for mosquito nets.—Savannah News.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria," and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

It was in a Latin class, and a dull boy was wrestling with the sentence, "Rex fugit," which, with a painful slow pace of emphasis, he had rendered, "The king flees."

"But in what other tense can the verb fugit be found?" asked the teacher.

A long scratching of the head and a final answer of "perfect," owing to a whispered prompting.

"And how would you translate it then?"

"Dunno."

"Why, put a 'has' in it."

Again the tardy emphasis drawled out: "The king has flean."—Waterbury American.

Liars Come High.

It was such a bright boy who applied to the grocer for a job that he thought he would give him a little talk just for a guy.

"If I hire you," he said, "I suppose you will do what I tell you."

"Yes, sir."

"If I told you to say the sugar was high grade when it was low, what would you say?"

The boy never turned a hair.

"I'd say it," he responded promptly.

"If I told you to say the coffee was pure when you knew it had beans in it, what would you say?"

"I'd say it."

"If I told you to say that the butter was fresh when you knew it had been in the store for a month, what would you say?"

I'd say it."

The merchant was perplexed.

"How much will you work for?" he inquired very seriously.

"One hundred dollars a week," answered the boy in a businesslike tone.

The grocer came near falling off his stool.

"One hundred dollars a week!" he repeated in astonishment.

"With a percentage after the first two weeks," said the boy coolly. "You see," he went on, "first class liars come high, and if you need them in your business you've got to pay them the price. Otherwise I'll work for $5 per," and the boy had caught the grocer at his own game and got the job at $6 per.—Exchange.

Heavy Enough.

One of the ladies in fancy dress was, though fair enough, a trifle fat, and we will not say that she did not look well out of the running. And there spake to her a reporter:

"May I ask what character you represent?"

"Helen of Troy," she answered. "What did you think it was?"

"Well," he murmured ungallantly enough, as weights and measures confused his brain and he gazed on her ample proportions, "I thought you might be Helen of Avoirdupois. —Tit-Bits.

His Grievance.

"I'd like to know what ails these spectacles," grumbled Mr. Skinnaphint. "I've always taken the very best care of them, but they've begun to fail me. I can't see through them well any more."

"Why don't you take them back to the man you bought them of?" asked Mrs. Skinnaphint.

"I would if I could," he rejoined savagely, "but he died 14 years ago."—Chicago Tribune.

FATHER McCLANCY'S SILVER JUBILEE

The Twenty-fifth Anniversary of His Ordination to the Priesthood Fittingly Celebrated—Exercises at the Parochial School—Sketch of the Good Priest's Life—Many Valuable Gifts.

Yesterday, the Rev. Father McClancy, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, this city, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the holy priesthood. In commemoration of this glorious event, the pupils of St. Joseph's Parochial School gave a series of delightful exercises in the chapel. The chapel was most beautifully decorated with flowers and and palms and the children wore badges of silver, emblematic of the silver jubilee. Immediately after the exercises a handsome silver service was presented to the Rev. pastor as a gift from the pupils. The Rev. Father McClancy addressed the children in his happiest vein, thanking them for the reception accorded to him, the kindly sentiments expressed in their address and the spendid presents made by them. Incidentally he gave them much fatherly advise as to the way of securing happiness and contentment in life. He urged them while young to strive to grow old by listening to the experience of their parents and teachers; and as they grow old to strive to remain young by continuing innocent and pure of heart.

The exercises of the school were as follows:

The Rev. John P. McClancy was born in Ireland some fifty years ago. Owing to political troubles, occasioned by the agitation of Daniel O'Connell, his family was obliged to emigrate to America. With them came the subject of our sketch, then a boy of six years. His early education he received at St. Mary's Parochial School, in New York city. Afterwards he attended De La Salle Institute for three years. Being thus prepared, he entered Manhattan College, whence he graduated with highest honors in 1865. Winning the approbation of Archbishop (afterwards Cardinal) McCloskey, by his acknowledged talents and his brilliant success in college, he was sent to St. Joseph's Seminary, Troy, N. Y. Here he devoted his years to the study of theology, sacred scripture, canon law, and the other branches of ecclesiastical learning which the church exacts from all candidates for the ministry. His proficiency being recognized, he was raised to the holy priesthood on the 22d of May, 1869, by his grace, the Most Rev. Archbishop McCloskey. Immediately after his ordination he was sent to St. Joseph's Church, New York city, where he distinguished himself as a bold and eloquent preacher. Later, he was sent to St. Peter's, the first Catholic Church in the city, to assist the Rev. M. J. O'Farell, afterwards Bishop of Trenton. On the 18th day of September, 1877, he began his labors in St. Joseph's Church, Middletown, where he has remained ever since. His work here needs no comment. His energy, his scholarly habits, and his zeal for the welfare of the church have made him beloved by the congregation and prized by the authorities of the diocese. It was no surprise to us then, though it was to Father McClancy, when rich presents came pouring in from the parishioners; from friends, and from his grace, the Most Rev. Archbishop Corrigan. The parlor was filled with a profusion of gifts, in commemoration of this most auspicious day. His grace, the Most Rev. Archbishop, sent a magnificent set of Roman breviaries, accompanied by a most kindly worded letter of felicitation. Rich gifts in silver, statuary, a splendid gold monstrance, jeweled altar vessels and well lined purses came in quick succession to enrich Father McClancy and the church. In value the gifts are estimated to be worth not less than $1,500.

It is not only by members of his own church that Father McClancy is loved and honored. During all the years that he has lived in Middletown he has earned the respect and esteem of all by his manliness, his carefulness, his piety, his readiness to assist in all good works. All thinking men recognize him as a power for good in this community and walk with the Angels in the earnest hope that his years of usefulness may be many, and that for Middletown's sake they may be spent in Middletown.

TO SUE FOR DAMAGES.

Mount Hope Asked to Pay for the Results of Bad Roads.

A party of Middletowners went to a point about a mile this side of Otisville, in the town of Mount Hope, yesterday, to examine the roadway, preparatory to the begining of a suit for damages against the town on account of the accident that befell a party of Middletowners in January last.

The accident referred to was the upsetting of a wagon containing over twenty young people, who were going to the fair at the Otisville Catholic Church.

They met another wagon going in the opposite direction and gave half of the road, but as the road bed was high in the middle and sloped abruptly to the gutters, the heavily loaded wagon upset and several persons were out and bruised and Frank Klein, the driver had his leg broken.

The wagon belonged to Mr. W. H. Murphy; Mr. Klein was employed by him and he has paid the expenses of Mr. Klein's care and medical attendance at Thrall Hospital, since the accident and intends to seek redress from the town of Mount Hope.

When the party visited the scene of the accident, yesterday, it was found that the road had been repaired, by filling in the sides and gutters, but Mr. Murphy claims to be able to prove that this work has been done since it was known that he would bring suit against the town.

CHASED BY A BIG SNAKE

Alarming Symptoms Indicated by a Chenango County Man's Story.

From the Norwich Sun.

C. O. Darke, Jr., called at this office, yesterday morning, and said that while driving up the plank road recently, he saw lying across the driveway, a huge snake asleep. He could go no farther without awakening the reptile, so, shutting his teeth tightly together, he procured a club and after a hard struggle succeeded in killing the sleeper. He says that it measured eight feet, seven inches in length and was a bluish-gray color. He jumped into his buggy and started to drive away, but noticed that the horse acted strangely and looking back saw a monstrous snake in pursuit. This was the mate of the snake killed and was nearly twice as large. The reptile pursued the buggy about four miles, until the village of Plymouth was reached, when the snake gave up the chase. Mr. Darke says that he was never so scared in his life, and that he will never venture alone in an unfrequented thoroughfare again.

A New Remedy for "That Tired Feeling.

From the Elmira Gazette.

After a series of "exhaustive experiments," according to a contemporary, Prof. Fisher, a German "scientist," has made a startling discovery that people who place pillows under their heads when they go to sleep are not acting with wisdom and discretion, and that the only way to sleep scientifically is with the feet bolstered up with pillows and the head low. He claims that hundreds of persons have written him that after a trial of his cure they suffered no more from "that tired feeling," which we see described so much in the newspapers.

Guessing at the Value of Westcott Wilkin's Estate.

From the Independent Republican.

Occasionally, in the absence of definite information, newspaper men reach a conclusion by guesswork and announce the result as a matter of fact. This was the case with the statement, now going the rounds of the local press, that Hon. Westcott Wilkin, of St. Paul, Minn., lately deceased, left an estate worth $300,000. Surrogate Coleman, whose wife is the only surviving member of Judge Wilkin's family, has no idea of the amount, and there is no reason to believe the author of the paragraph referred to had any knowledge whatever on the subject.

Turnpike Company vs. Highway Commissioner.

The Highway Commissioner of the town of Newburgh has condemned the turnpike between Montgomery and Newburgh and thrown open the toll gates. The reason for taking this step is the wretched condition of the Turnpike Co.'s road The Turnpike Company closed their gates and the commissioner reopened them. It is said that the company has brought a suit against him for so doing.

DIDN'T SPEAK FOR TEN YEARS.

Mrs. Berdan Says Her Husband Was Cruel, and She Seeks a Divorce.

After living with her husband forty years, Mrs. Martha Berdan, of Paterson, N. J., is seeking a divorce, alleging cruelty.

Jacob G. Berdan, her husband, is a wealthy real estate dealer in Spring Valley, Bergen county, N. J. His wife, in her testimony before Vice Chancellor Pitney, in Paterson, yesterday, alleged that her husband had not spoken to her for ten years, and that although living under the same roof they had cooked and eaten their meals separately.

She said he would not allow her in his apartments, nor would he give her money with which to buy clothes. He had ordered his friends and relatives to avoid her and kept her confined like a hermit.

To Open a New Highway in Hamptonburgh.

At the term of court held in Goshen, Monday, Judge Beattie appointed J. F. Bradner, of Middletown, J. O. Wilson and William L. Ogden, of Warwick, a commission to open up a new highway, commencing at or near the residence of Frank Everett in the town of Hamptonburgh, running in a southeasterly direction through the lands of Lewis H. Everett, William Gallagher and Horace Tuthill, to the town line between the towns of Hamptonburgh and Goshen, connecting with the Goshen and Montgomery road near the road that leads to Kipp's station.

Death of Elizabeth R. C. Jervis.

Eliza R. Coates, widow of the John S. Jervis, died at her home in Rome, N. Y., May 14, in her 84th year. Her husband died in 1884 in his 90th year. It was after John B. Jervis that the village of Port Jervis was named. He was a noted engineer. He figured largely in the construction of the Erie canal, was the engineer of the D. and H. canal, the Gravity Railroad and of the Croton Aqueduct, and was one of a committee of seven to locate the Erie Railroad and it was due to him that the present route was chosen.

Executing a Writ of Assistance.

Sheriff Alexander was at Rose's Point, in the town of Deerpark, Monday, to execute a writ of assistance against Mrs. Caroline A. Gillette, who refused to vacate premises bought by Thomas Merritt at mortgage foreclosure sale. It took the Sheriff and a force of men and teams all the afternoon to move Mrs. Gillette and her household goods off the premises.

WHAT ARE THE "BLUES"?

Woman's Color is an Unfailing Thermometer.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

A woman's thermometer is her color. She is red with embarrassment or some deep emotion; she is white with fright; she is supposed to be green with envy; but when she is blue it means that she is sick.

It is not the fault of the woman if she has the blues and that "want-to-be-let-alone" feeling. It is the fault of her condition which makes happiness impossible.

No woman can be happy and light-hearted when painful female complaints crush out her life.

If she is melancholy, excitable, nervous, dizzy, or troubled with sleeplessness or fainting spells, they are symptoms of serious female weakness.

A leaf out of the experience of Mrs. Anna Miller, who lives at Dubring, Pa., shows that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure that terrible weakness and bearing-down pain in the abdomen, the dizziness in the head, the feeling of irritability, and loss of appetite.

"I can highly recommend your Vegetable Compound," she writes, "for all female complaints. It's my greatest friend."

SCROFULA 12 YEARS

Always Sore. Face Burned Like Fire. Ashamed to be Seen. Four Doctors but Little Benefit. Cured by Cuticura.

For about ten or twelve years I have been troubled with scrofula. My head was always sore, my face was dry and scaly, and burned like fire most of the time. My body had big red spots on it, and I did not know what to do. I went to four different doctors and they helped me at first. In the fall I got worse again, then I tried other remedies, but they did me no good. I was ashamed to go into public. I was a sight to look at. Every one would say, "What is the matter, why don't you take something?" Even at my daily labor I had to wear a sort of cap to keep the dirt from getting into the sores. After I would wash, I would be covered with big red pimples all over my neck and face. Some two or three people advised me to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I did try them, and am glad I have done so. Glad to say I am a well man, and in the best of health since. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too highly. I can lose no portion.
